April 6, 2018 - A day like no other.
And now months like no other! Apr. 6.
the most agonizing day. Waiting and waiting and waiting to hear anything about Tyler. I felt sick to my stomach
I was hearing about fatalities, no answer on his phone, maybe he was helping others! His name not on the lists in the hospital any time I called. I was scared to call to hear again no his name is not on.

our list. I knew.... then the RCMP came + confirmed my thoughts at 0300 April 7.

My last message from Tyler was at 3 pm Apr 6 to say he was on the bus. You see Tyler would often drive on his own and I would always say why can't you go on bus. To me it was the safest. Part of me felt guilty then.

The last, "I love you mom, have a great day" came 3 days earlier on my birthday April 3. My birthday will never be the same.

I am thankful that Easter weekend he chose to drive back + forth from Nipawin <sup>from calling</sup> for Games 1 + 2. <sup>who knew it was our last</sup> <sup>100s</sup> holiday together even if <sup>we spent</sup> a few hours. Thankful his brother came home that weekend + saw him and my daughter Candy. It was their last time seeing him.

Since Apr 6 I have had to go on medication for mood, panic attacks, restlessness, I often feel frozen and numb and my focus, attention <sup>are</sup> poor. I feel more nervous in a vehicle and I notice semi's more. My sons Brandon + Brett <sup>are</sup> the same. My special needs daughter Candy sits quietly crying + says Tylers name. Tylers dad Terry feels the pain of losing a child. Life will never be the same. Holidays never the same. Tyler Meant a lot to the community as he spent a lot of time volunteering. We have met so many youth that miss him terribly and have come to meet us. We have met them as he coached + mentored them! Some have honoured him by putting tattoo's on their bodies. We have met the coaches he coached with and <sup>the friends he played games with.</sup> Many of his co-workers, <sup>we have met</sup> past + present who miss him terribly and they have all been so supportive.

I miss his radio voice + listening to him in the morning as I got ready for work. I miss his calling the Bronco games. Who knew that the Triple OT game Apr 4 would be his last + probably his best call. I miss watching his passion for the Mohawk football team. His love of sports + the love/passion he had for the New England Patriots + Tom Brady. May he'd be pumped they are in the "Super Bowl"! I miss him rubbing my hair + calling me short! As the days go on I vision him in my mind. I vision + think of Apr 6 as bus <sup>was</sup> driving to Nipawin. Did he know? Did he see it coming? I hope he was on his phone + never saw it. I think would he have time to be scared. Its awful! If only I could of protected him. Thats what us as parents want to do, protect our children from hurt + harm.

It kills me to think we will never see him walk through the door again or that he'll ever be at a holiday with us again. It hurts me I never got to give him a final ~~goodbye~~ <sup>hug</sup>, a last I love you, drive safe. His 30th birthday is coming up Feb 9 and we have decided to go ahead & plan a celebration of Tyler and it will be difficult without him. I'm thankful his friends & family will all be there for him & us as we work thru this <sup>1st</sup>.

Tylers family & friends have lost a kind, soft hearted, big hearted, thoughtful, genuine, patient, funny, loving, empathetic & forgiving guy. We are broken. We wonder what Tyler would think about all of this. We know... he would shake his head & say it never should of happened. Your right... it should not of. We do feel for you Mr. Sidhu, you are Tyler's age. I know he would feel for you as we feel for you. You did not intend to hurt anyone that day & you...

will deal with that the rest of your life as we deal with the loss of our Tyler the rest of ours.

I think of my children (your age) & I can't imagine even what your parents are going through as they watch you. I can't imagine how I'd feel as your mom Mr. Sidh. They have to be suffering too, the decisions made that day & the result.

Thank you for pleading guilty. My family thanks you.

Changes need to happen nationally, not just provincially to truck driver training.

Changes need to be made to wearing seatbelts.

Last, thank you to everyone we know & don't know for being there for us since Apr 6. I don't know how it would be without your love and support. Love & miss you Ty! Thank you.
